

Connie slipped her feet into her shiny new boots.
They felt hard and awkward and very, very different.

“Let’s get going, Connie,” said Connie’s mum.

But as they walked to the bus stop . . .

“WAIT, MUM!” cried Connie.
IN MY BOOT!”

Connie wriggled her foot against the thing.
It felt lumpy and bumpy between her toes.

In fact, it felt exactly like . . .

A DINOSAUR'S BUMPY BOTTOM.
"THERE'S A DINOSAUR IN MY BOOT!"
gasp'd Connie.

"How dare you trample all over my bottom
with your pongy foot!"

"Mum, stop!
I can't go to school
with a dinosaur
in my boot!
Everyone will stare at me."

Connie's tummy felt
lumpy and bumpy, just like the
dinosaur's bottom.
